

Important

Please read the information pages carefully. Pre-pay through ImmiAccount before posting your application to the Department of Home Affairs (the Department) (see page 14).

We strongly advise that you keep a copy of your application for your records.

There are 4 steps in the application process to resume your Australian citizenship.

- Step 1 Eligibility – determine if you are eligible
 - Step 2 Original documents – gather your original documents
 - Step 3 Copy and certify your documents
 - Step 4 Complete this application form, pay online and lodge your application

Integrity of application

The Department is committed to maintaining the integrity of the visa and citizenship programs. If you or a third party acting on your behalf provide, or have provided in a previous application, false or misleading information or documents (either knowingly or otherwise), this application may be refused. In addition, you may be prosecuted under the Migration Act 1958 and/or the Australian Citizenship Act 2007. If information or documents are found to be fraudulent or misleading after you become an Australian citizen, you may be prosecuted and may be subject to revocation of your Australian citizenship.

Step 1 – Eligibility

You may be eligible to become an Australian citizen again if you ceased being an Australian citizen:

- by acquiring the citizenship of another country before 4 April 2002, or
- by renouncing your Australian citizenship to retain or acquire another citizenship or avoid significant hardship, or
- by residing outside Australia for a continuous period of 7 years prior to 8 October 1958, or
- because as a child your parent or parents ceased to be Australian citizens.

Australian citizenship commences on the date the application is approved.

Note: If you have had your citizenship revoked you cannot apply to resume your citizenship. You may be eligible to apply for citizenship by conferral.

You cannot apply to resume Australian citizenship if you were born in Papua and ceased to be an Australian citizen on PNG Independence Day (16 September 1975).

Children

Children under 16 years of age can be included on a responsible parent's application form. Applications by children under 16 years of age must be made by a responsible parent.

The Australian Citizenship Act 2007 defines responsible parent in relation to a child as:

- a parent, unless that parent does not have parental responsibility because of orders made by the Family Court of Australia, or
 - any person having responsibility over the child because of an order made by the Family Court, or
 - any person who has guardianship or custody of the child under an Australian law or a foreign law, whether because of adoption, operation of law, an order of a court or otherwise.

Step 2 – Original documents

You will need to provide the Department with a range of documents to prove that you are who you say you are and to establish that you have not had any serious criminal convictions. These documents are called identity documents and good character documents.

You will also need to provide additional documents to validate your application. These are called supporting documents.

If you have to get documents from overseas, this can take time. You will not be able to complete the application process without these documents.

Translations and certified copies

If your documents are not in English, you must provide official translations. In Australia, you must use translators accredited by the National Accreditation Authority of Translators and Interpreters. For more information, see www.naati.com.au

Unless specified that original documents are required, certified copies of original documents must be attached to your application. These copies must be certified by a person with the correct authority. See Identity declarations – list of professions on pages 5–6 for people who can certify documents. Further information on certifying documents is available on the Department's website <https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/help-support/applying-online-or-on-paper/on-paper/certified-copy>

If you are outside Australia when applying, contact the Australian Home Affairs office where the documents were issued for advice on acceptable translators, and who can certify your original documents.

If you need to provide overseas penal clearance certificates with your application, you must provide certified copies of the certificates.

Identity documents

Applicants 16 years of age or over

You must provide identity documents for yourself and all children included in your application.

For yourself, provide the following documents.

 - birth name, date of birth and gender.
2. Proof of change of name, if applicable.
3. Part F – Identity declaration completed by a person with the correct authority.

If you do not provide these documents, your application will not be accepted and will be returned to you.

Children

If you are including children under 16 years of age in your application, or you are an applicant under 16 years of age, you must provide the following:

1. Identity documents that show a:
 - birth name and date of birth
 - photograph and current name, if available.

Identity declaration

Applicants 16 years of age or over

As well as your identity documents, you will need to provide an identity declaration and an endorsed passport-sized photograph of yourself.

The identity declaration must be completed and signed by an Australian citizen who:

- has known you for at least one year and belongs to a profession on the list on pages 5–6, and
- is not related to you by birth, marriage or de facto relationship, and
- is easy to contact by telephone during normal working hours.

The person who signs the declaration must also write on the back of your photograph the words: This is a true photograph of (your full name) and sign the back of the photograph using the same signature as on the declaration.

The photograph should be carefully attached to the front of the application form without obscuring the image, or you can place the photograph in a plastic sleeve or envelope and staple it to the form.

The photograph must be:

- no more than 6 months old
- a full-face view of your head and shoulders (untinted prescription glasses can be worn – a photograph that shows facial features only is acceptable if you wear a head covering for religious reasons)
- of good quality, in colour, against a plain, light coloured background (laser copies are not acceptable).

Note: If you are outside Australia when applying you can have the identity declaration completed by a citizen of your country of residence who has known you for at least one year and belongs to a profession on the list on pages 5–6.

Children

An identity declaration and endorsed photograph are required if you are an applicant under 16 years of age, or for each child under 16 years of age you are including in your application.

If you have more children than the space on the application form allows, please use form 1195 Identity declaration for each additional child.

The declaration and photograph should be signed by an Australian citizen who has known your child for at least one year and belongs to a profession on the list on pages 5–6.

In the case of children under 6 years of age, if no Australian citizen has known them for one year, the declaration can be signed by a person who has known them for less than one year and belongs to a profession on the list on pages 5–6.

The photograph of each child should be individually attached to the front of the application form without obscuring the image, or you can place the photographs in a plastic sleeve or envelope and staple it to the form.

Circumstances when an application cannot be approved

Your application to resume Australian citizenship cannot be approved if your identity cannot be verified.

Good character

If you are 18 years of age or over, the Department will request a Nationally Coordinated Criminal History Check (NCCHC) from the National Police Checking Service (NPCS).

You must tell the Department about any convictions you may have had in Australia or overseas. A conviction is a criminal charge leading to a guilty verdict in a court of law resulting in imprisonment, a fine or good behaviour bond. A traffic infringement, such as an on-the-spot speeding or parking fine, is not considered a conviction.

Spent convictions

You must declare spent convictions in your application.

The spent convictions law allows people with minor convictions to disregard those convictions after a certain period of time. A conviction may be considered spent if:

- it is 10 years since the date of the conviction (or 5 years for juvenile offenders), and
- the person was not sentenced to imprisonment for more than 30 months, and
- the person has not re-offended during the 10 year period (or 5 years for juveniles), and
- a statutory or prescribed exclusion does not apply.

The Department is allowed to ask you for this information for the purpose of assessing your application. Please refer to and read the information regarding spent convictions at <https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/help-support/meeting-our-requirements/character/character-requirements-for-australian-citizenship>

Overseas penal clearance certificates

Overseas penal clearance certificates, or police checks as they are known in some countries, show whether a person has a criminal record.

You may need to provide an overseas penal clearance certificate as part of your documentation if you are 18 years of age or over.

When to provide overseas penal clearance certificates

Penal clearance certificates from overseas countries are required if, in the last 10 years:

- you lived or travelled outside Australia and were aged 18 years or over, and
- the total time spent outside Australia added up to 12 months or more, and
- the time spent in any one country was more than 90 days, or
- if requested by the Department.

You will need to provide certified copies of all overseas penal clearance certificates from each country where you have spent more than 90 days.

Information about where to obtain an overseas penal clearance certificate by country can be obtained from the Department's website.

To support your claim to resume Australian citizenship you will also need to provide the following for yourself and any children included in your application:

You may be required to provide additional documents to those listed.

Step 3 – Copy and certify your documents

Certified copies of all of your required documents must be attached to your application. A 'certified copy' is a copy of an original document that has been authorised (or stamped) as being a true copy of the original document.

The copies must be certified by a person with the correct authority. See Identity declarations – list of professions on pages 5–6 for people who may certify documents.

If you need to provide overseas penal clearance certificates, you must provide certified copies of the document.
