INZ 1141

Application for an Agreement to Recruit

under the Recognised Seasonal Employer Scheme

Information for employers

If you are an employer who has been granted Recognised Seasonal Employer (RSE) status and want to recruit overseas workers under the RSE Limited Scheme, you need to complete this form to obtain an Agreement to Recruit (ATR) from Immigration New Zealand (INZ).

The term 'overseas worker' is used throughout this form. This term has the same meaning as 'non-New Zealand citizen or residence class visa holder worker' as used in RSE instructions.

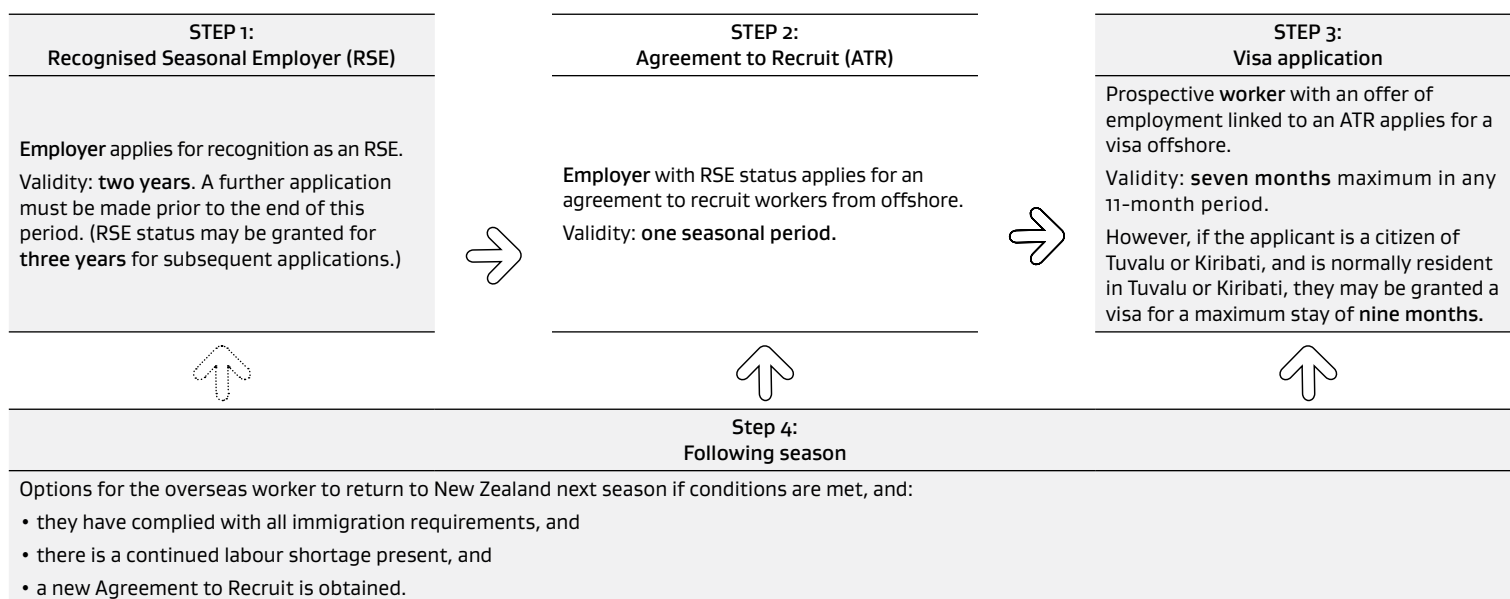

The term 'business' is used in some places in this form. This term refers to the business of the RSE who is applying for an ATR.

Agreement to Recruit (ATR)

An ATR is an approval for an RSE to employ workers, who are not New Zealand citizens or residence class visa holders, at times where high demand exceeds the available New Zealand workforce for the horticulture and viticulture industries. Before an ATR is granted, INZ must be satisfied that there are no suitable New Zealand citizens or residence class visa holders available and willing to work in the seasonal horticulture and viticulture positions that the RSE needs to fill. The availability of New Zealanders will be assessed in consultation with the Ministry of Social Development (MSD).

Obtaining an ATR is step two in a four-step process to employ overseas seasonal labour in the horticulture and viticulture industries.

RSE Instructions process

ATR requirements

An ATR will only be granted where:

- the employer has RSE status, and
- all reasonable steps have been taken by the employer to recruit and train New Zealanders for the positions available before seeking an approval to recruit overseas workers, and
- INZ is satisfied with the employer's case for requiring an ATR, and
- satisfactory evidence is provided of an agreement with a third party, where the business intends to recruit workers to undertake work at the worksite of a third party (such as a grower or packhouse operator), and
- INZ is satisfied that the employer will satisfactorily address the following pastoral care and health and safety requirements.
 - Transportation to and from the port of arrival and departure.
 - An induction programme.
 - Suitable accommodation.
 - Transportation to and from worksites.
 - Access to personal banking.
 - Access to acceptable medical insurance.
 - Provision of personal protective equipment.
 - Provision of onsite facilities (toilets, hand washing, first aid, shelter, fresh drinking water).
 - Necessary language translation.
 - Opportunity for recreation and religious observance.

Before an ATR will be granted, INZ must be satisfied that the RSE will:

- comply with the ATR conditions
- provide all prospective overseas workers with a written employment agreement that meets RSE instructions requirements
- comply with the terms and conditions of the employment agreements
- comply with the minimum remuneration requirements (including payment of half the return airfare between New Zealand and the worker's country of residence) and pay deductions requirements that are set out in RSE instructions
- pay to the Ministry of Business, Innovation & Employment (MBIE) any costs reasonably incurred by MBIE, to a maximum of NZ$3,000 per worker, in relation to the repatriation (including any maintenance and accommodation) of any overseas worker who requires repatriation as a result of a breach of terms and conditions of their RSE limited visa
- comply with any request from MBIE to audit the business against RSE instructions, the conditions of the ATR, and employment agreements
- disclose, on request, to representatives of MBIE all payments received from RSE workers (including payments for airfares, accommodation and other pastoral care)
- inform MBIE of the expected departure date of the overseas workers once bookings for outward flights have been made, and
- arrange, but not necessarily pay for, acceptable medical insurance for the overseas workers for the duration of their stay in New Zealand, as set out in the RSE instructions.

INZ may approve fewer overseas workers, or a lesser period of work, than requested where it is not satisfied that the number of people requested in the ATR application is appropriate for the work required or the number of people exceeds the forecast labour shortage for the region and period requested.

INZ will take into consideration the needs of the horticulture and viticulture industries as a whole when determining an ATR application and the number of workers which may be approved, to ensure that no particular region, crop or season is disadvantaged.

Any other supporting documentation to verify a regional labour shortage will be considered.

Key points for employment agreements

Employment agreements must:

- be in writing
- be consistent with the terms of the ATR

- be for employment in planting, maintaining, harvesting, or packing crops in the horticulture or viticulture industries
- be for a period of no more than seven months (or nine months if the workers are citizens and residents of Tuvalu or Kiribati),
- comply with all relevant New Zealand employment law
- state that the employer will pay for half of the return airfare between New Zealand and the worker's country of residence (or half the return airfare between New Zealand and Nadi, Fiji, for workers from Kiribati and Tuvalu).
- ensure that workers will be paid no less than the market rate (which is the typical rate a New Zealand citizen or residence class visa holder is paid for doing the equivalent work, in the same period, in the same region) for actual hours worked
- specify a 'per hour' rate for the work to be performed by the worker, and where piece rates apply, also specify the piece rate(s), and
- comply with the following minimum remuneration and pay deductions requirements.

Note: for the purposes of this instructions, the return airfare is defined as the total cost of travel from the worker's country of residence (or from Nadi (Fiji) for a worker who is a citizen of Tuvalu or Kiribati) to New Zealand and back, including all associated taxes and fees.

Minimum remuneration requirements

The minimum remuneration requirement for employment agreements that are for a period of six weeks or longer, is the greater of the following amounts:

- payment for 240 hours at the 'per hour' rate, regardless of the actual availability of work, or
- payment for an average of 30 hours per week at the 'per hour' rate for the period worked.

The minimum remuneration requirement for employment agreements that are for a period of less than six weeks, is payment for 40 hours per week, at the "per hour" rate, over the period of work offered in the employment agreement, regardless of the actual availability of work.

Pay deduction requirements

Any pay deductions must:

- comply with relevant New Zealand employment legislation
- be freely consented to (in writing) by the worker
- be for a specified purpose and for actual, reasonable, verifiable expenses, and
- be no greater than deductions from New Zealanders (in comparable circumstances), and the business must submit the proposed pay deduction arrangements to INZ for approval with this application. Any subsequent proposed changes to the pay deduction arrangements must be submitted to INZ for approval in advance of the changes taking effect.

For comprehensive information on all employment agreement requirements (including minimum remuneration and pay deduction requirements) see WH1.20 in the INZ Operational Manual available on our website www.immigration.govt.nz/opsmanual

Where to recruit from

If a business is granted an ATR, it will be able to recruit a set number of overseas workers from the Pacific nations listed below.

Citizens of the Pacific nations listed, who are also normally resident in one of those countries, and who are aged 18 years or over, may be granted a limited visa if they hold an acceptable job offer, hold a return ticket to their home country, meet health and character requirements and meet the requirements for a bona fide applicant.

RSE Instructions Pacific Nations
Federated States of Micronesia	Palau	Solomon Islands
Fiji	Papua New Guinea	Tonga
Kiribati	Republic of Marshall Islands	Tuvalu
Nauru	Samoa	Vanuatu

In circumstances where the employer cannot recruit overseas workers from the nations listed in the table above, they may be granted an agreement to recruit overseas workers from other countries if the RSE:

- was unsuccessful in recruitment after reasonable attempts to recruit from the nations listed above, or

- has pre-established employment relationships with workers who are not citizens of the nations listed above, or
- can provide reasonable grounds why it is not feasible to recruit from the nations listed above.

When assessing whether an employer has made genuine and reasonable attempts to recruit from the eligible Pacific nations, INZ will require evidence that such attempts to recruit have been made, such as a written communication from a national RSE officer stating that they have been consulted and agree that employing workers from the Pacific nations is not feasible in the circumstances.

When assessing whether an employer has a pre-established employment relationship with workers who are not citizens of the eligible Pacific nations listed above, INZ will consider a variety of factors. The factors will include: the number of workers employed from each country relative to the total number of workers employed by the business, the number of previous occasions on which workers have been recruited from these countries, the length of time for which these workers were employed, and whether the employer has made a substantial investment in establishing formal training opportunities or recruitment processes with workers or communities within these countries.

Any ATR application to recruit outside the Pacific nations listed above must be accompanied by a written request stating the country/countries that the employer wants to recruit from and supporting evidence documenting why they have not been able to recruit workers from the Pacific.

Applications for reconsideration

There is no statutory right of appeal against a decision by INZ to decline an application for an ATR; however, INZ may reconsider a decline decision if the employer provides new information and does so promptly.

Rescinding an employer's RSE status

RSE status may be rescinded if there is any breach of RSE or ATR requirements, other than of a minor nature, or if INZ considers an employer's conduct has created an unacceptable risk to the integrity of New Zealand's immigration or employment laws or policies. Where an employer's RSE status has been rescinded, INZ will not approve any further applications for RSE status from the employer that are made within one year from the date their RSE status was rescinded.
